Hi General
I've uploaded a scan of our brainstorming document here: 2022-08-03 classBrainstorming
Work to prepare for next Wednesday's tutorial:

- Prepare 1 ER diagram (each) to capture how you think the program will be represented.
- Prepare user stories for the class that you have been assigned.

that's strange, the document is not working.

[04/08 05:40 pm] Amy Minitier
General I've updated minutes and actions arising from this week. Please check the document to make sure that we complete the required work before next Wednesday.
Luke Mullan I sneakily assigned the creation of a user story to you grinningfacewithsmilingeyes

[07/08 06:37 pm] Amy Minitier
How about Mondays 11.45am for a regular stand up time? It's just before lunch (and therefore a break smile )
That said, I can't attend tomorrow, but I'm free on the following week smile

[08/08 03:11 pm] Amy Minitier
EDITED: General Please include your user stories in this document, following the template provided. 2022-08-08 userStories.xlsx
This is stored in Files > Milestone1.
There's also a template document (with examples) provided in a different in the same folder but this seems a little labour intensive in the first instance (everything is listed as a table and will be difficult to add). SO I say have a look at the template (because this is probably our end product, but add your user stories to the excel spreadsheet).
Please add your work before we meet on Wednesday.
Description of columns in 'User stories' tab is in the screenshot.
There are two additional tabs:

- Question for PO (points that you'd like to follow up regarding your functionality).
- Epics (a list of all epics developed so far)

I erroneously created a story in JIRA and I want to delete it. How can this be done?

community.atlassian.com

[14/08 06:37 pm] Amy Miniter

General It is possible to import to Jira from CSV. However, there will be a fair amount of overhead to get this to work the first time, which I don't think is justifiable given the number of user stories we have to create. The way we have divided the stories up between ourselves is also a good way to keep the labour down.

I vote no to importing via csv. Any dissenters?

User table

Accreditation number needs to be non-compulsory. Not all users will have one.
We need field for ROLE so we can distinguish between admin/doctor/patient

Add Status

Sprint backlog is almost ready: 2022-08-16\_sprintBacklog.xlsx

We're supposed to assign people to backlog items. If you're interested in working on certain features, please pop your name in the appropriate column by 5pm today. Otherwise I will fill it in after work. We need at least 2 people working on a story (for pair programming).

Some functionalities are similar, so I suggest that you assign yourself to backlog items that include similar functionalities.

Thanks!

General when you're adding your Jira tickets, please remember to tick them off in the shared spreadsheet in the Jira column. Helps us with tracking and to see what work we've completed.

Syed Ali and Luke Mullan - I'm about to add Registration stories to the sprint 1 backlog. I'm going to make up titles for your sprints as you haven't had a chance to upload yet. Could you use these so that the sprint and our tracking in Jira is the same?

Edited

[07:47 am] Amy Minitier

Abdulrahman Ahmed Alanazi stories have been added to the Jira backlog that's not in scope:

<https://cosc2299.atlassian.net/browse/T1BC-16> <https://cosc2299.atlassian.net/browse/T1BC-17> and potentially others. If the story is not in scope, we do not add it to the backlog because we aren't sure if we want to develop it.

Please check your remaining stories carefully on the spreadsheet and in Jira to make sure that you've carried the correct number of stories across. And please check off in the spreadsheet when you've added your stories to Jira. Please let Luke Mullan know which stories to delete in Jira.

This needs to be accurate. Thanks for going through this carefully.

hi General

Abdulrahman Ahmed Alanazi has noticed that our access has been removed from Jira. We all received an email from Martin Lawrence explaining the error.

Luke Mullan can you confirm if we are provided any access to a Jira account through institutional access? That is: is this free or do we need to sign up for this with a credit card?

Amy Miniter you don't need to bother yourself with adding backlog and epics because i already done yours smile

[05:30 pm] Amy Miniter

Thank you! That's a lovely surprise!!!! Thanks Abdul.

[05:31 pm] Amy Miniter

Do we have all the user stories up? Are there any left?

[05:31 pm] Abdulrahman Ahmed Alanazi

its just my way of saying "sorry for making a mess" for unlinking your stories

[05:31 pm] Abdulrahman Ahmed Alanazi

[05:33 pm] Amy Miniter

For the record the unlinking thing was 100% fine smile. I used to manage a team and it's always good if everyone tries to fix their little mistakes before taking it to others. Big mistakes, the team can solve together.

[05:34 pm] Amy Miniter

I personally am really happy that we had all our work in an excel spread sheet. Can you imagine if we had to do all this work again? ??? Yuck

[05:41 pm] Abdulrahman Ahmed Alanazi

Oh no i don't dare to imagine that 😱. Also if there is any mistake whether small or not will tell you immediately

[05:41 pm] Abdulrahman Ahmed Alanazi

So don't worry about that 😊

There are currently 19 issues in our Jira. We have 50+ in the backlog excel spreadsheet. Which others are missing?

[06:12 pm] Amy Miniter

Abdulrahman Ahmed Alanazi I'm going to delete these. The way I was originally adding the epic wasn't the right one and we've all added the 'parent' of the epic through the more correct means. smile We don't want issues to be blocked.
